

Stardreaming

Gateway to the Stars

A Sacred Site

Stardreaming is a place for people to open their hearts to the stars and experience the magic of Oneness.

Stardreaming

Stardreaming is a unique place to gather for individual or group pilgrimages, a place where you can experience your own inner alchemy. It offers a safe environment for healing, meditation, special events, workshops, weddings and ceremony.

This Sacred site is located on twenty-two acres outside of Santa Fe, New Mexico, USA. It is composed of twelve open air Stone Temples, A Rainbow Whale, Faery Ring, and the future site of an observatory and Temple of the Golden Dolphin.

Temples of the Cosmos

The Temples of the Cosmos and Rainbow Whale consist of 353 tons and 50 different kinds of stone and crystal ranging in size from multi-ton boulders to hand chipped pieces from the U.S.A. and Mexico.

Each Temple is oriented to specific stellar, lunar or solar alignments. Each Temple has its own creation story, unique design and type of stone. Each one is created according to the Hermetic tradition of revered sacred geometry, alchemy and magic. These Temples/vortices create a portal for divine energy and healing.

Creation Story

James F. Jereb, Ph.D., founder, architect, designer and visionary artist of Stardreaming is dedicated to understanding and communicating the story of our world and that of the stars, rooted in indigenous teachings, star lore, art, and sacred architecture across cultures. In 1996, his journey began after a spiritual awakening in Sedona, Arizona. This experience catapulted him into an artistic and spiritual transformation. He received guidance in a vision telling him that he was to surrender to the Creative Source, paint on canvas, create wall murals and sacred spaces for many. This guidance led to the creation of the Star Temple, the Stargate Deck and Stardreaming.

Live in Your Magic!

Reach for the Stars!

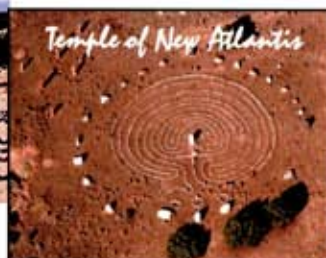

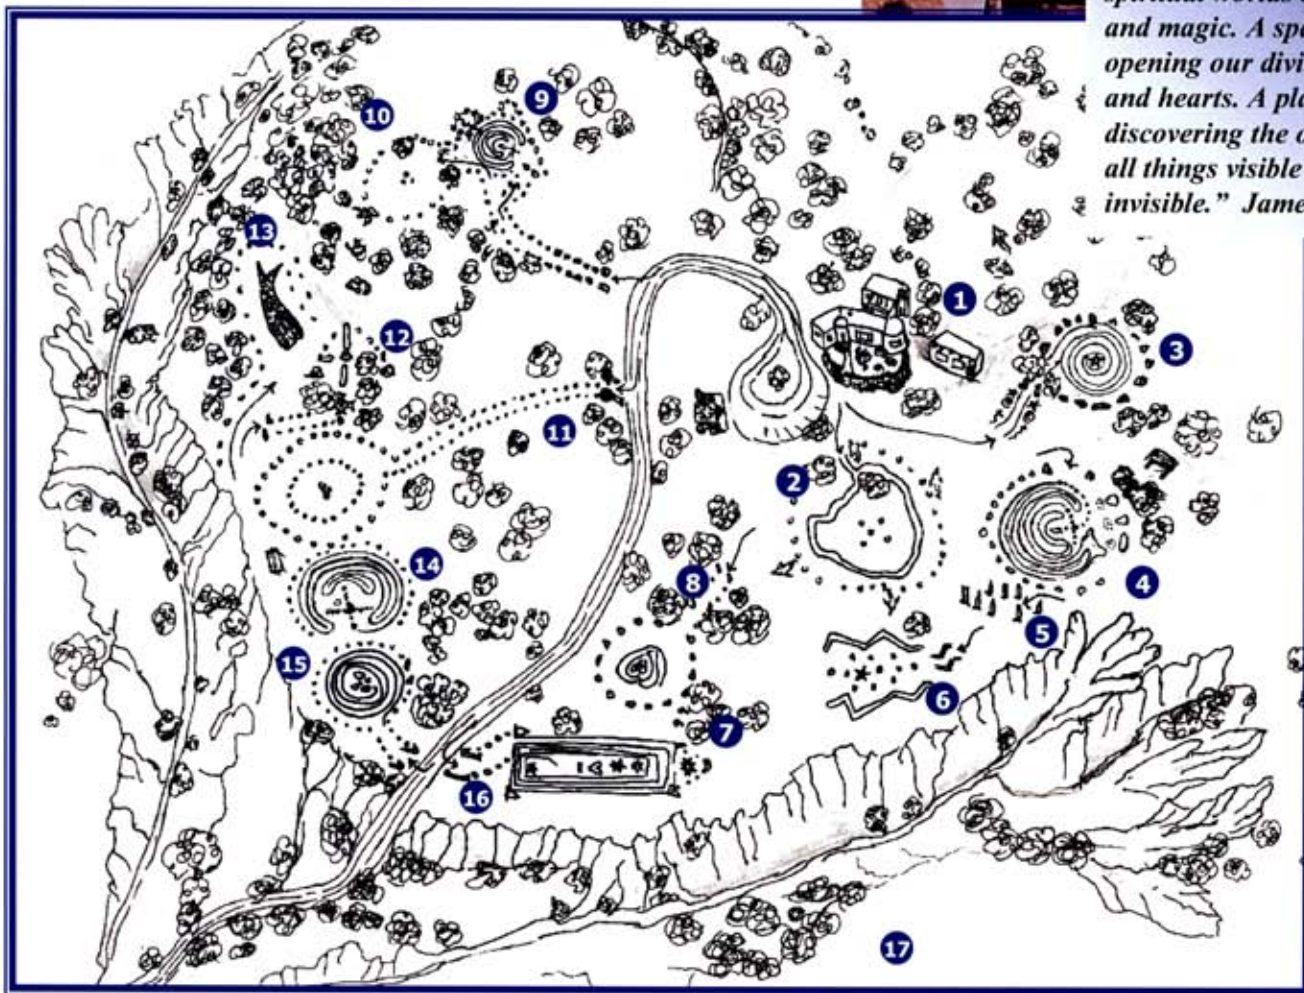

Jereb, being an alchemist and magician, moved and aligned tons of stone with his trusted crowbar and pipe. This is a testament to our true-unlimited physical potential and the divine that resides in all of us. When viewing the landscape, one is in awe of the magnitude and power of the stone. Working with the stone, Jereb claims that the stone taught him about humility, passion, surrender, love, trust and balance.
